Mix together jazz, funk, rock, soul and a little R&B and you've got the beginnings of blue number nine's sound. This is the band's second CD, a live recording of a gig in May 2001, which captures the band's live energy on stage. Bandleader Stefanie Seskin decided to release this recording because fans were anxious for something new. In addition to live versions of songs off the band's debut self-titled release, the CD includes 3 songs not previously recorded as well as a Macromedia Director file containing a music video of "Jerking My Chains." The live version of "Jerking My Chains" is sung by all three of the band's female vocalists -

Seskin, Sheila Connors and former member Kristy Cates, trading off verses. There is also a PDF file containing lyrics. "This CD is far from perfect," said Seskin. We only pressed 100 copies with the intent of selling them to diehard fans who will forgive the feedback. We were at the mercy of the venue's sound guy, we really had no control over this recording, but I figured, what the hell, let's press it! We've been wanting to record a second studio CD, but that's not gonna happen until we somehow find a budget." The group has over 40 songs waiting to be recorded in the studio. (blue number nine exclusively uses Ultimate Support stands.)
